The Project Communication Toolkit

Project Communication

In today's context, it refers to the programmes' communication support to project beneficiaries.

Programmes' work on project communications

Guiding project partners

This is about how you work with projects in order to ensure, e.g.

- compliance with EU regulations and programme rules,
- quality project communication by partners, which, by extension, improves quality of programme communication,
- improve capacity of partners to better communicate, their awareness on the tools and platforms available to them,
- develop a monitoring method to follow up on communication activities of projects, and consensual and active involvement of partners in that system,
- etc.

Promotion of projects

This is about how you work with projects at programme level in order to, e.g.

- highlight programme achievements with evidence from projects,
- identify the flagship projects of your programme,
- multiply the messages of projects and increase their reach,
- convince certain target audience that EU cooperation beyond borders has an added value
- find and exploit EU-wide promotional platforms,
- ensure reuse of the results and develop new projects on the achievements of existing ones, i.e. to capitalise on results
- etc.

and where?

What are the most common ways through which programmes guide the project partners?

Visibility chapters in programme manuals

A combination visibility manual and communication guide

Communication Guides

Considering how we envisage the process to work, is it too much hustle to just to develop one programme guide? (e.g. programme edits, own info, reshuffle design, etc)

How to write?

How to deal with the media?

Tips for media coverage

The power of news agencies

Send your story to news agencies (Reuters, ANSA...) because they can reach a number of media you could never dream of! Also, distribute your press release to specific journalists, not to generic email addresses like info@magazine.com

Pitch perfectly!

- Explain why it should interest journalists and their readers/viewers
- Don't over-exaggerate or make ridiculous claims
- Pitch by email and on time

Journalists ask. They want to know:

- What's new here?
- Why does this matter?
- What does it change, what's the impact?
- How much does it cost?
- Give me a practical example
- SO WHAT?

What's your hook?

- Major events
- Anniversaries
- National or world days
- Surveys, polls
- New twists on current news
- Report launches
- Exclusive interviews

Be active on social media

- Position yourself as an expert -journalists need credible sources, not bigmouths.
- Engage -retweet others, follow key players, be civil, avoid pointless posts.
- Flatter -most journalists are on Twitter or Instagram. Follow, flatter them

How to pitch a story?

The elevator pitch template

Also known within the Interreg community as the 'Charl elle's pattern', this short script is a very good way to briefly present your project to someone and get their interest. Be concise and clear, get to the point and use short sentences. Then, you will succeed.
